Others Talk, We Listen.

"I have experience leading trainings at CapTech and I'm very energized by facilitating learning. I have a passion for empowering people, building their skills and knowledge. I love helping others and am always looking for ways to give back to my community. This volunteer opportunity allows me to pass along knowledge that I've built over time to others and know that I am making a tangible, positive impact."

Value Delivered to VBH

Amanda seems like part of the family. She's so patient. We have a broad range of educational backgrounds on our staff and she brings everyone's walls down and makes us all feel comfortable. The training is making our work more efficient and in turn, helping us make Veteran's lives better, faster." Specifically, Pete Vacho, Dir of Community Engagement, shares that thanks to Apparo & Amanda's support, VBH has been able to nearly double the number of Veterans served & cut their wait time for service nearly in half.
